

Regardless, all opinions are 100% my own.

I was given a Deluxe Kit that included flavors of my choice to sample.

I was also given their standard and ultimate batteries so I could decide if there was a difference in the vapor hit.

In my opinion they both hit great. The standard battery hit smooth, but the ultimate batteries seemed to be more a smoother hit and I didn't have to keep puffing either. Just a small puff and that was enough. I got five different flavors that I chose and loved them all.

I recommend NuvoCig to others who are starting or have already been using e-cigs. They are made of stainless steel and of great quality. I noticed that the batteries have last me almost three to four full days. It will depend how much you use your device. I used mine a lot and still had great results with the batteries.

The standard battery is the automatic. You puff on it like a regular cigarette. It uses cartomizers. While the hit is still smooth, at times it does come out when puffing as not a consistent amount of puff each time. I still recommend this one to others, because the battery life lasts a long time and the charge time is very fast.

The ultimate battery is thicker and has a higher voltage. It gives bigger puffs with little puffing. On this one its manual, in that you have to hold down on this button when puffing. The more you hold it down, the more vapor you get. This one looks like more of tank type. It still uses the cartomizers too!

They have so many different flavors that it is unbelievable. I tried the vanilla, cherry, spearmint, strawberry, and cappuccino. They were all great flavors and we not overpowering. You can choose the power you want as well. from stronger to low strength.

I definitely recommend the Nuvocig as an alternative to smoking.

You can purchase your own HERE

Recommended for you

6-Pack –	Click 'N Dig	10 Piece
Imperial	Item Finder	Cuisinart
Home	Review	Chef's
Reusable		Classic
Coffee		Stainless
Pods for K-		Cookware
Cup Single		Set
Serve		Giveaway
Coffee		($400
Machines		Value) ends
with 2		2/14